Pocatello, Idaho—Idaho State Coach Leo McKillip proved beyond a doubt that he dipped wisely into junior college ranks, making his debut as head coach Saturday after 10 years as an assistant.

His Bengals passed the University of Omaha dizzy for a 28-20 victory before 45 hundred happy fans.

Idaho State had been favored by one touchdown. The native of McCook, Neb., recruited Bill Ingram from Boise, Idaho to pass in his prototype offense. He also picked up Mike Acker from Fullerton, Cal., to keep the defense honest with his running.

Ingram hit 11 of 15 passes for 187 yards the first half as Idaho State moved into a 14-6 lead. His total of 15 for 24 and 263 yards was completed with substitutes in the lineup much of the last quarter.

Acker gained 73 yards on 22 carries. Omaha Quarterback Marlin Briscoe completed 15 of 30 passes for 179 yards under constant pressure. Marlin also led the Omaha running attack with 73 yards on 11 carries.

Rick Davis, Omaha's new running back, made 50 yards on 12 carries and Fullback Bill Dodd was held to 29 yards on nine attempts.

Bod Odom, 6-2, 205-pound junior college transfer from San Diego, John McCarthy, also 6-2, a holdover senior from Rochester, N. Y., and Jim Rackley, another junior collegian from Pendleton, Ore., were Ingram's favorite targets.

Although only two of the four Idaho State touchdowns were scored through the air, all were made possible by flips.

Idaho State scored 14-0 on 10 plays early in the second quarter for its first touchdown.

Iowa State, made a 1½-point favorite by odds-makers, made one final gesture after the Badgers fashioned a 17-10 lead with a field goal with 11:43 to go.

Iowa State hopes perked up when Van Galder spiraled 19-yard passes to George Maurer and Ebbie Barney on successive plays.

The Cyclones moved to the Wisconsin 27 and Les Webster bulldozed three yards before Gary Reineck speared a Van Galder pitch at the 20 and hustled it back to midfield.

The Badgers probed a weakness in the Cyclone right side and moved for a first down at the six.

The ever-ready officials then came on the scene to call delay of game on the Badgers.

But in stepped Tom Schinke to boot a 32-yard field goal, his second of the game, to seal the gloom on Iowa State's fifth straight loss to the Badgers in the series.

Door Opens
A deflected pass that was batted into Schinke's hands set up Wisconsin's first score, 34 yards from the goal.

A pass-interference penalty helped move the ball to the 17. A third-down pass from John Boyajian to Lynn Buss caught Iowa State's defenses lagging.

The 203-pound soph from Wausau barreled into Dave Mayberry at the five and carried the helpless Cyclone into the end zone for a 16-yard scoring play.

down. With fourth and two, Briscoe hit rookie Lloyd Williams with a short flip as the Bengals keyed on Dodd.

Omaha's second touchdown was of the fluke variety. Wally Pankratz intercepted a Briscoe pass on the two-yard line but fumbled and Terry Edwards picked it up and stepped into the end zone.

The last Omaha score came with 16 seconds remaining. Pat Smagacz, starting defensive back, moved into the running spot and gained 33 yards on three carries. Greg Kavan, sophomore fullback from Wahoo Neumann, bucked over the final yard.

Omaha's defensive secondary, a source of concern for several years, was not effective. However, the defensive line failed to crash through, especially in the first half, as Ingram had plenty of time to spot his receivers.

A concern voiced by Line Coach Don Watchorn Friday night became a reality Saturday. Ed Jackson, 225-pound sophomore tackle, suffered a knee injury on the first defensive play and never returned to the lineup.

Delay of Game Costs I-State; Wisconsin Scores 20-10 Win

By Howard Brantz
World-Herald Assistant Sports Editor
Camp Randall Stadium, Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin greedily accepted an act of true benevolence en route to a 20-10 victory over Iowa State Saturday.

Iowa State, only inches from a touchdown that would have erased a 14-10 deficit in the third quarter, moved at a snail's pace in going into a fourth-down huddle.

Just before Quarterback Tim Van Galder, a former Madison prep standout, called the signal, the red flag dropped—and with it dropped the chances of Iowa State.

The five-yard penalty meant the spiderlike-built Van Galder had to go to the air.

He lofted one into the end zone. But Dave Berge, the senior safety from Beaver Dam, Wis., showed great devotion to duty when he speared the ball to end Iowa State's threat.

Van Galder had aimed the pass over the middle toward Dick Schafroth on a tackle-eligible play.

Van Galder, oozing with confidence in Cyclone warm-ups, got the rebel's treatment from antagonized Wisconsin defenders.

Before the day was over the Cyclone senior was clutching at straws for an answer to a rush that sometimes reached brutal proportions.

Los Angeles, Cal. (AP)—Donn Clendenon brought Pittsburgh from behind with a three-run homer in the seventh inning Saturday as the Pirates snapped Los Angeles' eight-game winning streak, 9-5.

The victory lifted the second-place Pirates within 2½ games of the Dodgers in the National League.

Clendenon's smash against the leftfield foul pole came at the expense of Phil Reagan and pinned the loss on Bob Miller.

Miller was lifted after Roberto Clemente walked opening the seventh and Willie Stargell singled.

The Pirates went on to clinch the triumph with four runs in the eighth inning.

Ron Perranoski walked Manny Mota with the bases loaded for the first run. Clendenon grounded out for another and Bob Bailey rapped a bases-loaded single off Bill Singer for two more.

Clendenon's homer wiped out a 3-2 Dodger lead.

MCCovey's Shots Hike Giants, 6-4

San Francisco, Cal. (AP)—Willie McCovey's third homer of the game, a two-run blast in the tenth inning, Saturday lifted San Francisco to a 6-4 victory over the New York Mets.

McCovey connected against Larry Miller after Willie Mays singled with one out and advanced on John Stephenson's passed ball.

The homer, over the right-field fence, was the big first baseman's thirty-third of the season.

McCovey, who hit a homer Friday night that was longest at Candlestick Park, connected off starter Dennis Ribant in the fourth inning and again in the fifth.

Late Defensive Gems Repel Texas Christian—Frustrated Scarlet Holds On, 14-10

Memorial Stadium, Lincoln—With its offense effectively smothered during a frustrating second half, Nebraska needed the late defensive fury of Lynn (Butch) Senkbeil and burly Jerry Patton, to preserve a 14-10 decision over Texas Christian Saturday.

For agonizing minutes as the clock ran out, the home-record crowd of 60,974 saw the gambling Texas drive close to an upset over the favored Cornhuskers.

With 5:10 to play and TCU on the Nebraska 25-yard line, Senkbeil pounced on a fumble by rookie Fullback Ross Montgomery.

The Texans continued to throttle Nebraska's attack, however, and stormed back into N.U. territory a few minutes later on an 18-yard pass from Quarterback P. D. Shabay to Montgomery.

Shabay then threw on first down from the Husker 48.

Senkbeil, former All-America prepster at Salina, Kans., this time saved Nebraska's goose-pimpled head by intercepting at the 40.

Three minutes and 21 seconds remained in the game, but Nebraska controlled the ball less than two minutes.

TCU took Al Kuehl's punt on its 23, but on first down the brilliant Senkbeil crashed through to bush-whack Shabay on the six-yard line.

With intentional grounding called, the visitors were additionally pushed back half the distance to the goal.

But the plucky Shabay passed from his end zone to Wingback David Smith to the 15, and a personal foul on the tackle moved TCU on to the 30.

Shabay's twenty-first pass—TCU's twenty-seventh—was incomplete.

Old Power

Nebraska once more looked like an easily-irritated Devaney machine when it promptly fought back for 78 yards and go-ahead points.

Churchick was the well-poised ringmaster. Winters and Ron Kirkland showed their old power. Wilson, who has shed more than a dozen pounds in the past three weeks, was Wilson.

A devastating block by Pickens, the brawny transfer student from Wisconsin, set Wilson free for a 16-yard ramble—the best on this drive.

Kirkland made an important delivery when he used a block by LaVerne Allers to go 11 yards and put Nebraska on the enemy 10.

Wilson made five and Kirkland got one, but illegal motion on the latter

108-Yard Gallop Leads California

Spokane, Wash. (AP)—Don Guest returned a field goal attempt 108 yards for a touchdown Saturday, sparking California to a 21-6 victory over Washington State in a Pacific Athletic Conference game.

The Golden Bears held a 7-6 lead late in the third period when Guest, a defensive back, caught Ted Gerela's low, end-over-end kick deep in his own end zone.

Guest's electrifying run broke the PAC record for punt returns established in 1951 by Hugh McElheny of Washington on a one hundred-yard run.

Denison Blitzes

Granville, O. (AP)—Denison's Big Red crushed Rochester, 56-18, Saturday as Fullback Eric Ivory rang up three touchdowns.

All's Rosy

It was on this foray that Harry Wilson strutted like the Light Horse Harry the football magazines have been talking about.

He contributed a 17-yard run during which he broke a tackle midway on the trip, and he took a 13-yard pass from Churchich which produced a first down on the TCU nine.

Pete Tatman plunged to the six. Churchich then pitched out to Winters, who chugged through Tackle Bob Pickens' territory on the right side for the touchdown.

Encouraged

The Nebraska coach did find considerable encouragement in the defense.

He pointed out the pass defense did not permit TCU any long passes and the ground defense denied the Frogs any long runs.

During the closing minutes Devaney thought the defense was at its best. The Black Shirts protected the victory with three key plays, according to Devaney.

They forced a fumble, intercepted a pass (by Lynn Senkbeil) and spoiled a TCU lateral (Jerry Patton).

These plays enabled Nebraska to run out the clock at a time when the offense was unable to control the ball.

Felt Good

"When I ran deep patterns I felt comfortable," TCU pass-snagger Sonny Campbell said of Nebraska's pass defense.

"I felt I had the break on my man. It seemed like I had room to work.

'Old Favorites'

Despite the soggy field the Cornhusker marching band pranced through a half-time survey of musical reproductions from the gramophone to television.

While the band played, a bevy of co-ed-senected old favorites from radio melodramas to modern day TV's Batman and football.
